New Brucellosis Regulations

The Livestock Disease Act under which this district is a Brucellosis restricted area has had some minor revisions this year.

The major change in the act is that a purchaser now has 20 days instead of 10 days in which to test newly purchased cattle and be able to rescind the sale of reactors. If a buyer tests cattle within 20 days after purchase and finds reactors, he may rescind the sale by notifying the previous owner in writing within 14 days after the test result is received. This section of the act, in the past only, covered "female cattle kept for breeding or milk production purposes." Under the new amendment it covers all cattle for breeding or milk production purposes, so bulls are now included. All vaccinated cattle which react to a blood test but are under 36 months of age will not be branded as reactors. However, if they still react after 36 months of age, they will be branded with a "B" on the right jaw whether they have been calf-hood vaccinated or not.

The amended Act requires vaccination from four to 11 months of age, instead of four to eight months of age. However, I would like to point out to possible exporters that "official vaccinates" as recognized by American Health regulations is still vaccination after the 6th month but before the 9th month birthday. Therefore, I would like to suggest that if you have any intentions of selling helpers for export, that you make sure you vaccinate according to American regulations.

Meet To Discuss Choral Workshop

A meeting of interest to all those in the district whose spare time hobby leads along musical lines is planned for next Friday, Sept. 5, in the local Armouries.

The Music Extension Department of the University of Alberta are hoping to conduct a "Choral Workshop" here during the fall and winter months. These have been in operation in other towns for some years and would appear to be similar in nature to a program which was carried out in Vulcan years ago.

The meeting has been set for 2:00 p.m., at which time a representative from the University will be present to explain the program to all those interested.

Best Students Ever

If the Government is casting about for ways to assist Canadian universities and students without offending provincial susceptibilities, it could do worse than study the workings of the last large-scale Canadian student aid plan, declares The Financial Post.

This was the university training scheme under the Veterans Rehabilitation Act. By any standard it was an outstanding success; and it could well serve as a model for a new measure.

In all, the Act sent 55,000

Let Contract For 2½ Blocks Hard-surfacing

A Standard Gravel and Surfacing Company crew is busy this week on the job of hard-surfacing the two and a half blocks of avenue from the railroad tracks to the County office at the bottom of Centre Street.

The opportunity of getting this approach to the business centre of town hard-surfaced at a bargain price came about with the completion of Standard Gravel's contract for applying the base course on Highway 23 from the Corner Store to Vulcan. With the machinery right on the spot and a thousand yards of crushed gravel available at a very low price, the town council held a special meeting and agreed to have the two and a half blocks of surfacing done. The cost to the town will be less than $3,000 at the contract price of $1.05 per square yard.

On top of the present gravel base the surfacing company is spreading two inches of crushed gravel, which is rolled and compacted, and then two inches of base course hard-top.

The short access road from the highway to the town limits at the railway tracks has already been surfaced, and the work now undertaken for the town will give a hard-surfaced approach from the highway right to the bottom of Centre Street.

veterans to college. The government paid their fees and gave each man a basic $60 a month living allowance. The universities got supplementary grants to provide facilities. Of the $134 million cost, $85 million went for allowances, $49 million for university support.

Because of their greater age and experience, the veterans, taken as a group, were the best students our universities ever had. Canada is — and so are they — the richer for their training.

The road from Paton's corner going east is now being gravelled. Swathing of wheat in the district is now well underway.

Statement From Company

Plan Natural Gas For Vulcan Line In 1959

Following a request by the Vulcan Advocate for definite information, officials of Canadian Western Natural Gas Company Limited report that due to a number of factors it will not be possible for them to complete the necessary arrangements in time to supply natural gas service to Vulcan during 1958. However, they are hopeful that a 40-mile transmission line from the Alberta Gas Trunk Line system to serve Vulcan, Kirkcaldy, Champion, Carmangay and Barons can be completed prior to the fall of 1959.

Two factors have prevented the company from submitting a definite proposal to the communities concerned. The availability and cost of a gas supply has been uncertain up to this time, and the company is not in a position to quote definite rate schedules for the sale of gas because of current rate hearings. The former has now been resolved.

This week agreements have been finalized with Trans-Canada Pipelines for a supply of gas with Alberta Gas Trunk Line for its transportation from the Pincher Creek field to the take-off point near Nobleford. While these negotiations have been going on for several months, final agreement has been delayed by the necessity for the various parties to appear before certain Boards and Commissions, and by the consideration of many problems related to gas and oil production and export.

Canadian Western is now before The Board of Public Utility Commissioners regarding an application for a review of its rate structures. Until the Board deals with this application it is impossible for the Company to quote firm rates for supplying individual consumers. It is hoped that prior to next spring new rate schedules will be in effect and the company will be able to make a firm offer to the various communities along the Vulcan line.

In addition, it will be necessary to acquire the plant of Central Gas Utilities Limited before service can be provided to Vulcan. Negotiations are presently being carried on between Canadian Western Natural Gas Company Limited and Central Gas Utilities Limited, and while no arrangement has yet been reached, Canadian Western officials expect that a satisfactory agreement will be arrived at in the near future.

Owing to the length and cost of the line and the relatively few consumers, the rates in Vulcan will necessarily be high compared to Calgary and Lethbridge. However, if gas can be supplied at costs competitive with other fuels and provided that franchise arrangements can be completed, the company will be ready to proceed with construction in 1959.

Weather Delays Harvest

Widespread showers last Thursday evening brought a temporary respite to the county, but the return of hot, dry weather over the weekend resulted in swathers and combines being brought into full swing and harvest becoming fairly general.

Cloudy conditions Tuesday evening of this week were accompanied by high winds and Wednesday morning was cloudy with a threat of rain.

Early reports indicate that yields of all grains will be somewhat above average and grades should be good.

Uninvited Guest Was Pack Rat

E. G. Seeley, agent at Pioneer No. 2 grain elevator in Vulcan, discovered an uninvited guest in his elevator Tuesday morning and at first it was thought to be a Norwegian rat of the type Alberta is endeavoring to keep out of the province.

After the rat was cornered and killed, closer examination showed it to be a pack rat, of the type common in the mountains, with the furry tail of this breed rather than the bare tail characteristics of the Norwegian rat. The rat had built a nest in the elevator and was evidently prepared to make its home here.

It was examined by Spencer Burns, county agricultural supervisor, who confirmed that it was a pack rat. It presumably got to Vulcan aboard a freight car.

Calves Killed By Lightning

On Tuesday, Aug. 19, at the farm of Alex Kaiser, Sr., 15 miles east of Vulcan, four calves were instantly killed when lightning struck. The calves were in a pen which was situated 120 feet from the barn. Mr. Kaiser estimates around a $300 loss.

Surfacing Of Entrance Road

The town apparently got a real bargain when it concluded an agreement with Standard Gravel & Surfacing to hard-surface the entrance road from the railway tracks along to the County office.

Only the facts that 1000 yards of surplus crushed gravel was available at a bargain price and that Standard Gravel had just finished its contract on Highway 23 and had its machines on the spot and available made the deal possible. Approximately two and a half blocks of street will be done at a total cost to the town of less than three thousand dollars. The contract calls for two inches of crushed gravel base and a minimum two inches of hard surfacing.

This brings up the provincial government's announced plan to make the sum of $10,000,000 available in 1960 for community improvements, including street paving in some 200 major towns, villages and hamlets. Almost every town in Alberta will no doubt be anxious to get in on the government's street paving project and Vulcan, along with the villages in the County, might as well get its application in before the ten millions is all allocated.

It is hardly likely that the projected street paving plan would be accomplished in one year and we take it that the intention of the government is to start the plan in 1960; in which event it could be a "first come, first served" proposition.

The 1960 community improvements project also provides for the construction or improvement of local recreation facilities such as parks, swimming pools, campsites and picnic sites. Little Bow Park, Little Axe Park and Lake McGregor Memorial Park might well be in line for increased grants.

We were glad to see the County Council take successful action to have the provincial department of highways arrange for the hard surfacing of the access road from Highway 23 to the Town of Vulcan limits.

True, there was but a short distance to be surfaced, but it was not included in the highway contract and could easily have been left as a dusty stretch of gravel for a year or two before it was surfaced. It ties in nicely with the town's action in arranging for the surfacing of the road from the railway tracks to the bottom of Centre Street.

Apparently no action has been taken on the request by the Town and the Board of Trade for an improved turn-off to Vulcan from the highway south. This is a dangerous, almost right-angle turn and even long-time residents of the town have to watch closely at night or they are past the turn-off before they know it.

Proper signs might help, but the construction of a more gradual turn would be the best solution.

Is Your Child Ready For School?

(Written in the spirit of helpfulness by a Vulcan County teacher.)

For more than twenty years, I have been trying to help boys and girls achieve a "good education." I have seen many failures and many successes, and every year I am more convinced that the home plays a large part in both. Every normal parent wants his children to do well in school; not all parents know how to help them.

If you have a child under school age, you will find the pamphlet issued by the Vulcan County, a very helpful guide in preparing him for a successful school career. It is yours for the asking, but don't wait until he is six to ask for it or it will be of limited value. If you have a school age child, whatever his grade, it is well to ask, "Is my child ready to achieve up to his ability this year?" He is, if you can honestly answer "Yes" to the following six questions:

1. Has he learned to obey? If parents overlook deliberate disobedience, he will naturally resent school authority, and a child who resents school authority has a poor emotional climate for learning.

2. Is his mental and emotional growth average for his age-group? The school attempts to consider individual difference, but, nevertheless, it is geared to the average. All know that a below-average rate of learning or I.Q. will hinder education.

Not all realize that immature behavior will also handicap. For example, we expect selfishness and lone play in two-year-olds, but long before school the average child learns to give as well as take, to be part of a group. If the child has two-year-old behavior patterns at six, he will not easily adjust to the school environment. Retarded learners are often partly so because of immature behavior patterns.

3. Has he learned to work? If a child habitually leaves home tasks half done or poorly done, it little is expected of him, his school work habits will probably be equally poor.

4. Does he really feel that an education is worthwhile? A parent can do more than anyone else to sell "education" to a child. Pupils who realize the value of education seldom fail—I do not mean the group who are "sold" only on the dollars and cents value of a diploma.

5. Does he respect his teachers? You may think that only the teacher can influence this, but don't underestimate the influence of your attitudes or even chance remarks. I had both weak teachers and strong teachers. I have my parents' wisdom to thank that I made satisfactory progress with both. They convinced me that I had "good" teachers, that if I didn't do well I had only myself to blame.

6. Is your child eager to start back to school? Every child must attend school for at least eight or nine years—how tragic if he dislikes it. It is normal for a child to look forward to the holidays, but it is equally normal to want to get back to work.

If your child does not look forward with eagerness to the beginning of the new school term, even though it may not be fashionable to confess it—then you have real cause for concern. Unless the reason can be found and something done about it, he will not do as well as you have a right to expect.

If he has experienced the joy that is to be found in honest effort and a job well done, then you may be sure that he is well prepared for school.

SPRUCE SAWFLY LARVAE infesting a tall grove of evergreens on the farm of John Shaw, Jr., in the Gibbons district, received a dousing with deadly insecticide. Malathion-50%, mixed one quart to 100 gallons of water, was the chemical used in this case. Inset shown the voracious insects stripping needles from a branch; paper match indicates proportions. Field supervisory staff from the MD of Sturgeon River carried out the spraying with equipment purchased this spring under a new government-aid program. At time of spraying Mr. Shaw was busy harvesting a heavy hay crop. Shortly before the pictured operation, the workers sprayed an aphid infestation which was causing severe tree damage in a suburban area in the town of St. Albert.

C. Stokes returned to his home in Calgary.

Harvest operations are progressing nicely with a few farmers having completed all but the flax. Two showers, one Tuesday and one Thursday evening, delayed combining for several hours. Barley yields are reported to be running at between 35 and 45 bushels.

MAJORVILLE

(Held Over From Last Week)

What might have been a serious accident, occurred on Monday evening on the road north of Sandy Henry's. Mrs. Hugh Winch was taking her daughter, Mrs. Gordon Eoyd of Queenstown home and as she approached the bridge over the coulee, decided it didn't look too good to travel over so she slowed down, but not enough it seems. Workmen had left the west side rough and steep with the result the car hit the rise on the road and stopped with a bump, killing the engine. The car broke Mrs. Winch's glasses but fortunately no one in the car was injured.

Not so fortunate was the accident between Mrs. Bill Beckner's car and a swather. Returning from town via the road past Mrs. Prentices farm and coming to a rise in the road, Mrs. Beckner saw a swather at the foot of the hill, belonging to Irvin Sukut. Deciding that it was either hit the swather or overturn in the ditch, Mrs. Beckner hit the swather. The car was badly damaged and reports are that the swather is a complete wreck and not worth repair. Mrs. Beckner was alone in the car at the time and was not hurt.

Darlene Riggs of Morrin has been spending part of the summer holidays on the farm of her grandfather, George Kiemle and Mrs. Kiemle.

Marvin Winch went to Calgary on Friday to move his grandfather, Clyde Russell down to Queenstown, where he will make his home. For some years now Clyde has had a chicken ranch in Calgary, but the place was recently sold so he is returning to Queenstown where he lived in the early 1930's.

Bud Long and Mrs. Florence Burr of Edmonton are visiting at the home of Mrs. Mabel Hagg. Mrs. Jennie Roseen of Kelowna accompanied them down from Edmonton and is visiting with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Prentice. Later Mrs. Roseen will stay for a while with her sister, Mrs. Hagg.

Mrs. Hap Heather accompanied by Mrs. Bert Clemmons, Mrs. Bill Clements and Mrs. Lloyd Armstrong was a visitor to Calgary on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Heather and family are visiting in the district this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Evan Hughes of Chicago are guests at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Alf Heather.

Harvest is now getting into full swing with swathing pretty general. Some straight combining of barley has been done but reports of second growth are still green, while fields looking dead ripe are reported, making it a problem whether to go ahead and combine or swath first. There is as yet no report of yield but prospects are for a good harvest of all sown crops. The weather has been hot and dry and the straw is very brittle as a result. With continued co-operating from the weather, harvest should be well under way this coming week. A result of where there is no watering facilities are drying up.

Mrs. Jack Deitz closed the meeting with prayer. The hostess assisted by other members served a lovely summer afternoon lunch.

The next meeting will be on Oct. 8, at the home of Pastor and Mrs. Foster in Lomond. Among the visitors for the afternoon was Mrs. Jennie Roseen of Kelowna, B.C.

DUCKS PLAY FAIR

A $33,000 "cafeteria service" or honor system for wild ducks at the south end of Lake Manitoba will be continued in 1958, reports The Financial Post.

Irate farmers within 10 miles of the shore line complained they were losing most of their grain crop to ducks.

The provincial game branch in 1957 tried an experiment. It scattered grain, chiefly barley, along the edges of the lake. The plan proved a success. The birds showed that for one year at least they were willing to play fair with the government and the farmers. Crop damage was negligible.

Hunting camps and cabins are most numerous in Manitoba for here there is a heavy concentration of wild geese and ducks on the many lakes and marshes, while upland birds, deer, moose, caribou and black bear are also plentiful.

By most recent count there are only 26 whooping cranes surviving in their wild state. Their summer nesting ground is Wood Buffalo National Park, which straddles the Northwest Territories-Alberta border.

gagements in the prairie provinces before returning to Ottawa early in October.

NEW VARIETY OF CRESTED WHEAT GRASS LICENSED

The Dominion Department of Agriculture has announced that a new variety of Crested Wheat Grass, "Nordan," has been licensed for sale in Canada. The new variety was developed in North Dakota.

Nordan is similar in appearance to standard crested wheat, says O. G. Bratvold, Alberta's Supervisor of Crop Improvement, except that it is more leafy and less likely to lodge when grown for seed production. Its yield of forage is about the same as Summit, however, seed yields are expected to be somewhat better. Heads are more compact and uniform and the seed has a higher test weight.

Nordan has received wide recognition in the Northern Great Plains and inter-mountain states. Consequently, Canadian seed growers can expect their production of Nordan Crested Wheat Grass seed to be received in the United States with more favor than either Commercial or Summit. Many areas in Alberta are well suited to the production of Nordan Crested Wheat Grass.
